Spalding Given War Honors For Distinguished Services

Violinist Earned the Cross of the Crown of Italy,
Highest Award Ever Made to Foreigner;
Also Won French Medal

Albert Spalding, who will give a violin recital in the first of the Community Concert series Wednesday night, received the highest honor ever conferred on a foreigner by Italy during the World War—the Cross of the Crown of Italy.

In 1917, when America entered the war, Spalding cancelled his American concert tour and enlisted for service in the aviation corps overseas. For his distinguished service he also received the rosette of the Legion of Honor from the French government.

Spalding plays from 60 to 90 concerts every season in the United States besides an average of fifty concerts in Europe. In addition to his playing genius, he is a noted composer. More than 60 of his compositions already have been published.

His recital tomorrow night will include two of his own works in addition to those of six other composers.

He is, as W. J. Henderson wrote on one occasion in the New York Sun, "A credit to himself, to his country, and to his art."

Students may obtain tickets for the recital by presenting activity cards at the Student Union business office.

Two Awarded CPA Standing

The university Certified Public Accountants committee recently awarded CPA certificates to Earle J. Romek, Belfry, and Herbert O. Holt, Billings.

"An idea of the difficulty of the examination for the Certified Public Accountants certificate is shown by the fact that at the fall examination given in Montana, 14 took the examinations and only Romek and Holt were granted the certificate," said Dean R. C. Line, chairman of the committee.

The university committee, composed of five faculty members, grants all CPA certificates for Montana. Examinations for certificates are uniform throughout the country, and are graded by the national association of CPAs.

Perfect Score A Book Away

Law school annals reveal a record which, students declare, is 99.9 per cent perfect.

A check of text and general reading books in the Law library by Charlotte Russel, librarian, disclosed that only one volume, "Brandels, the Personal History of an American Ideal," is not accounted for.

Said the students, "Is the world getting better, or just the lawyers?"

Frosh Win One And Lose Two To High Schools

Livingston, Great Falls Quintets
Take Freshman Teams;
Billings Topples

The traveling section of the Grizzly Cubs, paced by Willy DeGroat, defeated Billings high 47-34 at Billings Saturday, while the stay-at-home portion of the yearling squad dropped a one-point decision to Great Falls high 36-35 at the university gym Saturday night.

Cubs lost to Livingston high Friday night at Livingston 42-34, with DeGroat and Jones leading Cub scoring.

At Billings the university freshmen had a one-point edge going into the third quarter, suddenly found their stride and emerged winners when DeGroat and Jones again rang the bell often for Cubs.

Great Falls high gave Coach Ted Hodges his second straight night of nerve strain when the Bisons barely nosed out the Cub second-stringers, after Larry Potter overcame a large Bison lead with long netburners, which pulled the freshmen within one point of Great Falls before the gun cut the final rally short.

Bud Sellinger led the Bisons against the Cubs with 11 points, while Cub Potter and Russ Edwards gathered seven apiece for the Montana frosh.

Dufour Leads Varsity Men's Rifle Victory

The varsity men's rifle team defeated the freshmen last night by 168 points in the current series of small bore matches being fired on the ROTC range. Wilfred Dufour led the winners with a score of 277. George Thelen was high scorer for the freshmen with 267.

Helena Attorney Gives 9 Books To Law School

A gift of nine valuable books to the Law school by William Scallon, Helena attorney, was announced by Acting Dean David R. Mason in a letter to President George Finlay Simmons. A London publication 163 years old is included.

Mason's letter said: "We have received as a gift from Mr. William Scallon, the following books:

"Tomlin's Repertorium Juridicum, published in London in 1776-1777. This is a general index to all cases and pleadings in law and equity contained in all the reporters, yearbooks, etc. theretofore published. It is an interesting addition to our library.

"Session Laws of Montana for the following years: 1867, 1871-72, 1889, 1897, 1899, 1901, 1903 and 1905. Although these are duplicate volumes which we already have, nevertheless all are worth-while additions to our library. The earlier session laws of Montana are getting very expensive (for instance, we have a quotation on the First Session, 1864, at $40) when obtainable, and are difficult to obtain at any price."

Independent Seniors Will Begin Pictures

Independents' senior pictures will be taken beginning at 1 o'clock tomorrow at Ace Woods' studio. Appointments may be made at any time at the Sentinel office, announced Chuck Mueller, Sentinel editor. February 15 is the deadline for pictures.

Communications

Editor's Note: A newspaper's repertorial responsibility ends with accurate coverage of a speech. It should not consider the truth or falsehood of the speaker's assertions in a news story.

The Kaimin considered itself obliged to cover Ornitz' speech because International Relations club, a campus organization, gave him a dinner preceding the lecture and attended the speech, following the club's policy of hearing all sides of international questions.

Dear Students:

Have there been only 350 Catholic priests killed in the Spanish Civil War? Mr. Ornitz in his talk last Wednesday evening emphasized the affirmative and strongly expressed his opinion that the American Press in general and the Catholic Press in particular had not been printing the truth about Loyalist Spain. Mr. Ornitz referred to a press release from the Vatican as proof of his statement that the number of priests killed was only 350.

Mr. Ornitz spoke under the sponsorship of the American League for Peace and Democracy and the meeting was not held on the University Campus. Thus any discussion on the statements made by Mr. Ornitz should be considered off-campus activity. But write-ups have appeared in the Kaimin Thursday and last Friday in which some of the assertions of Mr. Ornitz were put forth for student consumption. It is a wonderful thing to have news about off-campus activities in which students are interested but there are a few points relative to these Kaimin stories that I would like to call to the students' attention.

In the Kaimin article of Friday, January 27, we read that "this estimate (of 350 priests being killed) was released to all newspapers from the Vatican in Rome and did not represent Mr. Ornitz's own opinion." In the first place what proof have we that there was such a release from the Vatican? We have to place the integrity of the Am. League for Peace and Democracy against the integrity of the nation's press in general. I have not seen any news items in any of our off-campus newspapers, especially Catholic newspapers since they would be the first to carry a release from the Vatican, that would uphold Mr. Ornitz's statement about the Vatican release.

But to think that the estimates made and published by many newspapers in this nation should be so far off! Instead of only 350 priests killed we have continually heard that the number is more like 3500 for the time of the war only. The Detroit Times issue of Dec. 28, 1938 printed the statement from the Observatore Romano, official Vatican Newspaper, that "between forty and seventy per cent of the priests in Spanish government territory have been murdered since the outbreak of the Civil War."

There are also other questions that flare up out of the Spanish situation, such as: Why were any priests killed in a democracy?

one day.

"Dornblaser—Some referees are born blind.

"Vitt—All right, Mr. Umpire, call this one.

"Scherch—Get that big stiff next time!

"Steve Sullivan—@@cc!!

"Unidentified co-ed—Well, they don't shine on the bleachers.

"You don't know all of those people? Isn't that reason enough for making this list? They're all worth knowing and maybe the list will prompt an acquaintance. The quotations indicate what they were—find out who they were."

Is the Catholic Church against democracy as we have it in America? Is Fascism the lesser evil between Fascism and Communism? etc. In the International Relations Club meeting this Tuesday evening some of these questions will be talked over. One of the blessing of our species of Democracy is this exchange of opinions toward a greater understanding and I believe everyone appreciates this fact more fully after watching trends in some foreign lands.

Yours truly,
AL SCHMITZ.

No Chimpanzee Ads In This Paper

You'll probably never see chimpanzees advertised in the Kaimin.

Even if someone wanted to advertise them, we could not accept the ad, because we feel that the chimpanzee market at Montana State university is relatively small. The Kaimin prints advertising only about items for which students have some use.

So, if you need a chimpanzee, we can't help you.

But if what you need is a milkshake, a haircut, a formal or a cigarette, the situation is different. For these items, Kaimin advertising columns are a helpful directory of courteous, ambitious merchants who desire and appreciate your trade.

Most of these men know that the Kaimin is the only good medium through which to get university business. Others, newer in the field, perhaps, are still testing the value of the paper.

You can help the Kaimin to confirm the judgment of the first group, and to prove itself to the second. Whenever you buy something, from a Kaimin advertiser, whether it be a cup of coffee or an overcoat, tell the merchant that he can "credit this sale to the Kaimin."

Advertising controls completely the size of a newspaper. So if you let merchants know of the effectiveness of his Kaimin advertising, he'll benefit, we'll benefit, and you'll benefit directly in the form of more pages per issue.

It Isn't Too Late—Nor Too Soon!

Perhaps it is time to mention that midquarters aren't far away. And not too long after them, finals for the quarter will be hanging like a shadow over student brows.

Upperclassmen should know by now that it is time they started to catch up on the work they let slide in January. Some students think that classes are something to sit through until the week-end of dances and skiing.

Maybe they are right, but at that rate they won't last long in this university or any other place. Useless as the warning is—it isn't too late nor too soon to start studying.

Dean Stone Remembers

FAMOUS SAYINGS

"We meet people day by day," remarked Dean Stone to a Kaimin reporter, "and they become so much a part of our life that we cease to think—if we ever did—that they are anything but ordinary. I believe, however, that every person we meet gives us something of himself as a contribution to our development. Bye and bye, when we look back, we sometimes realize what that contribution was and wonder that we didn't appreciate at the time what it was and who made it.

"Because we usually remember something said more than something done, nations, institutions and individuals frequently compile lists of 'Famous Sayings' which preserve and index such contributions as I have mentioned. These quoted sayings are generally accurate interpretations of character too.

"Thinking along this line last night, I wondered why nobody had ever made a list of famous sayings for this campus. We should have one.

"I jotted down a few just as a suggestion for a starter. Additions to this list will readily occur as more thought is given to the matter; these just came to mind as I looked back over the university story since 1895. Try these on Kaimin readers:

"Craig—The university; it must prosper.

"Duniway—The measure of a university is intellectual achievement.

"Craighead—a great university for a great state.

"Slisson—There is also human engineering.

"Clapp—Well, let's talk it over.

"Scheuch—Yes, I knew that fellow—he was a Sigma Chi.

"Elrod—Montana is a boundless field for the scientist."

"Underwood—Shall swine be fed pearls? Why should the digestion of swine be injured?

"Jesse—No!

"Miller—Wait a minute. There's something to be said for him.

"Spaulding—Back of the hedge—

"Schreiber—You and who else?

"Bob Carey—You can't train in

Dahlbergmen Practice For Bobcat Cage Tilts In Easy 56-32 Victory

Montana Grizzlies, working smoothly at times, trampled Idaho Southern Branch, 56 to 32, Saturday night in a game which turned out to be nothing more than a warm-up job for the annual Grizzly-Bobcat series at Bozeman February 3 and 4.

Idaho Southern Branch opened and closed the scoring, but it was the aggressive Dahlberg crew which did the in-between basket-making with a consistent 30 per cent barrage.

Trouncing the Southern Branch outfit, Grizzlies more than erased the 30-29 squeeze suffered at the hands of the Pocatello team earlier in the season.

Big Bill Lazetich led Montana with 12 points, followed by Barney Ryan and Jim Seyler with 10 each. Turner, tall ISB center, looped 11 markers to lead his team.

With two wins over the tough Gonzaga team, a thrilling victory over the giant Washington Staters, and the decisive verdict over Idaho Southern Branch, Coach Jiggs Dahlberg's squad is in a winning frame of mind for the Bobcat series. The victory Saturday hoisted Montana to a .500 average in the won and lost column with 11 victories and the same number of setbacks.

Whadja Say, John?

By JOHN CAMPBELL

This is the week Jiggs Dahlberg has been waiting a whole year for. He has not forgotten the two games over in Bozeman last March. If ever the Montana court maestro wanted to win a pair of hoop brawls, it is the series this week-end with Montana State. Last year the Grizzlies knocked the Cats off their publicity pinnacle and won twice at home but winning even once over there proved to be a decidedly different proposition. It was the best chance Montana had had since 1934 of taking the state title.

Some say the Grizzlies might have won the two games in Aggie-town last season; others disagree. Among them were the two abriders who didn't think Montana played right. Dahlberg's chance of seizing the state basketball laurels was badly jolted when the tooters called something like 22 fouls on Montana and four on Montana State in the second half of the nightcap. The whistling boys blew so often that your Uncle Herman, jolting down black marks against the Grizzlies, couldn't keep pace. Montana didn't lose that second game to the Cats, they lost it to the referee. This is no alibi, but merely a reminder of the importance of the choice of officials for the coming series.

Nobody else but the kid in the four-cornered pants by the name of Val Glynn,—and what taste! Glynn, former Bobcat athletic star, has foolishly accepted the request to officiate in the Bozeman engagements. Thought Coach Dahlberg would like to know ahead of time so he can devise an attack for this six-man Bobcat basketball team.

According to word received from Bozeman, the Grizzly double-header is anticipated as keenly and bitterly as ever by townspeople and cow college co-eds alike. The rivalry is burning as hot as at any time in history and the Aps plan a rousing reception for the Bruin clan. Bobcat cohorts gave a deafening demonstration last year but their high spirit was marred by one incident which stands alone. It was during the hectic moments of the encore clash when Cosner, MSC guard, committed his fourth personal foul. Amid the reverberating din, the referee didn't hear the scorer's weak horn and Cosner stayed in the game. As Dahlberg rose to protest he was greeted with a wave of boos and ejaculations which shook both him and the house. After two minutes, somebody found the Blind Tom's eye and the guilty one was ejected. That's the way things went last year and if it is anything like that this year, the host of Grizzly partisans can rest assured that they're in for some hoarse moments Friday and Saturday.

Sluice Box To Receive Writers' Aid

Quill club, campus writers' organization, heard poems by Evelyn Heald and Louise Jarussi Sunday afternoon. Plans were discussed to perpetuate Sluice Box as a campus literary magazine, Faculty Adviser John Scheffer said yesterday.

The club voted to stimulate interest in Sluice Box and to work toward putting the magazine on a permanent footing. The university is one of the few state institutions in the country which does not support a student magazine, members said.

"Anyone interested in creative writing is invited to attend our meetings. Members are selected on the basis of submitted manuscripts," Scheffer said.
